DETAILED ACTIONResponse to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Frank, US Patent 5,649,502.

Frank discloses a handheld pet animal bathing utensil for connection to a source of pressurized water (at 18) including a housing, chamber, outer periphery, planar housing surface, inner housing surface portion, water exit ports and tubular extensions (view

discloses that the extensions are substantially co-planar or may be of different lengths (column 3, lines 63-67). In the embodiment of Frank have differing lengths, the shorter of the two lengths are being defined the water exit ports and the longer are being defined the tubular extensions. While Frank does not positively disclose the rigidity of the elongated tubular extensions, it is noted that extensions of different degrees of hardness may be used and as such, one of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to make the extensions be rigid since it has been held that where the general working conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. Frank discloses the extensions being free of openings along the sides thereof and having water discharge openings formed in the distal ends thereof (as viewed in Figure 4). Frank further discloses a control valve (20) operatively associated with the housing for controlling water flow through the exit ports and the water discharge openings. While Frank does not positively disclose the arrangement of the extensions/ports when of differing lengths, it is seen in Figure 4 that the extensions/ports are positioned along the entire length of the outer periphery of the housing. As such, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to arrange the extensions/ports in a given manner, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
